Executive Summary

The FY 2005 DHS Appropriations Act (P.L. 108-334) directs the TSA Administrator to transmit an annual report on the collection of unclaimed money at airports and the expenditure of those funds. Congress directed TSA to account for the amount of unclaimed money recovered in total and at each individual airport. TSA also was directed to describe how that money is being used to provide civil aviation security.

In accordance with these requirements, this report provides the amount of unclaimed money recovered from each airport, the total amount recovered during FY 2021, and describes how unclaimed money is being used for civil aviation security.

I. Legislative Requirement

This document is the annual report of the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) on the collection of unclaimed money at airports during Fiscal Year (FY) 2021 and the expenditure of those funds as required by the FY 2005 Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Appropriations Act (P.L. 108-334).

Specifically, section 515(b) of P.L. 108-334 states:

(b) ANNUAL REPORT – Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act and annually thereafter, the Administrator of the Transportation Security Administration shall transmit to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure of the House of Representatives; the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives; the Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation of the Senate; and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate, a report that contains a detailed description of the amount of unclaimed money recovered in total and at each individual airport, and specifically how the unclaimed money is being used to provide civil aviation security.

II. Background

Unclaimed money is money that passengers leave behind at airport screening checkpoints. In most cases, this money consists of coins that passengers remove from their pockets while undergoing security screening. During FY 2021, TSA collected $653,687.64 in unclaimed money. Unclaimed money is deposited into a special fund account so that collection and spending of the money may be tracked easily.

Section 44945 of title 49, United States Code, grants TSA statutory budget authority to expend unclaimed money:

(a) Disposition of Unclaimed Money. —Notwithstanding section 3302 of title 31, unclaimed money recovered at any airport security checkpoint shall be retained by the Transportation Security Administration and shall remain available until expended for the purpose of providing civil aviation security as required in this chapter.

III. Data Report

A. Money Collected

The following table lists the amount of unclaimed money collected from each hub airport and the grand total of collections during FY 2021.¹

Spoke airports are not listed in the chart; however, they also collect unclaimed money at their checkpoints. This money is deposited with their respective hub airports. The hub airports then deposit a combined total of collections and send receipts to TSA Headquarters.

During FY 2021, TSA did not collect any foreign currency.

B. Expenditures of Unclaimed Money

In FY 2021, TSA collected $653,687.64. Combined with unclaimed money collected in prior years that TSA had not obligated yet, TSA had a total of $1,579,144.96 in unclaimed-money resources available for use. Of these total resources available in FY 2021, TSA:

- Obligated $211,740.93 for Coronavirus Disease 2019 protection equipment and supplies for the field, of which $194,167.61 was expended during the year.

As of September 30, 2021, TSA had $1,367,404.03 in unobligated unclaimed-money resources available for use.

IV. Conclusion

TSA will continue to inform Congress on the use of unclaimed money to improve civil aviation security. TSA is committed to protecting the Nation's transportation systems to ensure the freedom of movement for people and commerce with minimal inconvenience to its customers. TSA works to ensure that all traveler property, including coins, returns to the proper owner. However, when coins remain unclaimed, those funds are directed to critical aviation security programs.
